THE HOME GOLD CURE.

An Ingenious Treatment by Which Drunkards are Being Cured Daily in Spite of Themselves.

No Noxious Doses. No Weakening of the Nervous System. A Pleasant and Positive Cure for the Liquor Habit.

It is now generally understood that Drunkness is a disease and not weakness. A body filled with poison, and nerves completely shattered by alcohol or constant use of intoxicating liquors, requires an antidote capable of neutralizing and eradicating this poison, and destroying the craving for intoxicants. Sufferers may now cure themselves at home without publicity or loss of time from business by this wonderful "Home Gold Cure" which has been perfected after many years of close study and treatment of inebriates. The lethal dose according to directions of this wonderful discovery is positively guaranteed to cure the most obstinate case, no matter how hard a drinker. Our records show the marvelous transformation of thousands of drunkards into sober, industrious and upright men.

Wives cure your husbands! Children cure your fathers! This remedy is in no sense a nostrum but is a specific for this disease only, and is an skillfully devised and prepared that it is thoroughly soluble and pleasant to the taste, so that it can be given in a cup of tea or coffee with out the knowledge of the person taking it. Thousands of drunkards have cured themselves with this priceless remedy, and as many more have been cured and made temperate men by having the "Cure" administered by loving friends and relatives without their knowledge in coffee or tea, and believe today that discontinued drinking of their own free will. Do not wait. Do not be deceived by apparent and leading "improvement." Follow on the disease at once and all time. The "Home Gold Cure" is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, thus placing within reach of everybody a treatment more effective than others costing $25 to $50. Full directions accompany each package. Special advice by skilled physicians sent free of charge. Sent prepaid to any part of the world on receipt of one dollar. Address Dept. 1, Edwin B. Giles & Company, 2330 and 2332 Market street, Philadelphia. All correspondents strictly confidential.

Our President and Our New Possessions.

The speech made yesterday at Arlington by President Roosevelt is the expression of a national purpose, expounded by President McKinley in his last annual message to Congress, the difference being primarily that President McKinley reported to Congress on the work done by the army, and President Roosevelt reported to the people on the formal accusations made against that army by the leaders of the opposition in the country.

Peace and freedom were what President McKinley promised to the Philippines eighteen months ago; peace and freedom are what President Roosevelt tells the people the army has established in the Philippines today.

Peace first, then order; then freedom. As to independence, that is something for the future, the distant future, to determine. The President said:

But our armies do more than bring peace, do more than bring order. They bring freedom. Remember all ways that the independence of a tribe a community may, and often does, have nothing whatever to do with the freedom of the individual in that tribe or community. There are now in Asia and Africa scores of despotic monarchies, each of which is independent, and in so one of which there the slightest vestige of freedom for the individual men. Scant indeed is the gain to mankind from the "independence" of a blood-stained tyrant who rules over abject and brutalized slaves. But great is the gain to humanity which follows the steady though slow introduction of the orderly liberty, the law-abiding freedom of the individual which is the only sure foundation upon which national independence can be built. Wherever in the Philippines the insurrection has been definitely and finally put down, there the individual Filipino already enjoys such freedom, such liberty, under our rule, as he could never even dream of under the rule of an "independent" Aguinaldo oligarchy.

The work begun by the navy under Dewey has been continued by the army, by the schoolmaster, and by the exponents of civil government. It will be carried on by the direction of Congress through the agents of the people, until all the world, including even the croakers at home, will honor the American name and praise the men who have been the instruments of the people's will.—Louisville Post.

A Horrible Affair.

A special from Huntsville, Ala., to the Birmingham News says:

News reached Huntsville last night of a terrible outrage committed upon Tom Harless, a white farmer, who lives on the Bassinger place, near Berkeley. Harless had been plowing and was eating his dinner at a spring on the place when he was confronted by two strange men with pistols, who demanded that he throw up his hands. The farmer's pockets were then rifled of what money he had, $4, and the robbers then hacked him up against a tree. The loose folds of flesh on each side were pulled out and nailed to the tree with nails. His hands were stretched above his head and nailed to the tree, and in this condition the man remained until dark, when he was rescued by a farm hand. Nothing like this case has ever been heard of in Madison county before. Harless was literally crucified, and his sufferings while nailed to the tree were almost unendurable. His hands are ruined and he will probably not be able to work in several months.

HOBODOM.

The Real Hobo: What He Is and How He Lives.

Two further facts about the hobo may serve to dispel a popular error. First, he is, within certain bounds, a patron of literature. There are very many exceptions to the general rule of illiteracy. Second, he spends a very respectable amount of his time in the use of water, soap, and towels. Aside from the question of special fitness a man is the creature of his opportunities, and this truth in its scope runs to the last far-reaching of Hobodom. The dweller in this realm when in the harness obtains but a slight acquaintance with leisure. His early and, as he must work, on an average, ten hours a day, he must have more than eight hours' sleep. It is true that even this schedule leaves him a few hours to himself on working days; but the fact remains, that through fatigue and lack of facilities, for the appointments of a railroad camp are few and extremely rough, he is unable to utilize his spare time to the best advantage. After supper, most of the men retire to the bunk-beds to lie on their beds and smoke and talk. Some play cards; others, disposed to be exclusive, arrange their blankets for a comfortable reclining position and read books and belated newspapers by the flickering light of a candle fastened at the head of the bunk. Sunday, of course, is the hobo's day of freedom, and he appropriates the time to avocations of his own inclination. He bathes, shaves, oils his shoes, boils his underclothes, sews on buttons, takes stiletches where needed, gossips, writes letters to absent "partners" and reads.

As may be supposed, trashy novels predominate among the books of the hobo's selection. However, as a counterbalance to themes which are altogether trivial and voluble, he relies the polemics of the famous agitators, being especially affected by their sensationalism and eloquence. On his trips from camp to camp, the hobo, addicted to reading, burdens himself with a volume or two which, when he has finished, he exchanges with fellow-travelers of similar propensity. A box of old magazines provided by one contractor for the use of his employees proved to be greatly appreciated by the men, the demand for the periodicals being quite extensive and constant. The amount of general information thus acquired by the reading hobo would surprise those gentle personages of glorious opportunities and cultivation who look upon him as an outlandish, cloddish piece of humanity. The existence of a world more polite than he has ever seen, the developments of popular science, inventions and events of national importance, the recurring crises in European diplomacy—all these, chiefly through the medium of the newspapers, he is aware of and can discuss with a readiness which would do credit to an even more alert mind.—By Charles Ely Adams in the June Forum.

At a recent dinner of Civil War veterans some things were said about the many organizations of veterans of the Spanish War. An old man with one leg told this story, which he seemed to think was appropos in some way.

"James Smith, who did good service in the Johnston flood, was giving his pedigree to St. Peter prior to his admittance to heaven. 'There are many James Smiths,' said St.

There have been times when the wild beasts have been more merciful than human beings, and spared the women cast to them in the arena. It is astonishing how little sympathy women have for women. In the home the mistress sees the maid with the signs of suffering she recognizes so well, but she does not lighten the sick girl's load by a touch of her finger. In the store the forewoman sees the pailor and exhaustion which mark womanly weakness, but allows nothing for them. It is work or quit.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, by curing the womanly diseases which undermine the health and sap the strength. 'Favorite Prescription' establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"When I first commenced using Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mrs. George A. Strong, of Danvers, Mass., "I was suffering from female weakness, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains, weak and tired feeling all the time. I dragged around in that way for two years, then I began taking your medicine. After taking the first bottle I began to feel better. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one of the 'Pain-Expeller,' and used one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Now I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice and the good your medicine has done me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

Peter. 'You had better identify yourself in some way.' 'Well, I'm the hero of the Johnston flood,' said James Smith. 'Very good,' said St. Peter. 'A few days later James Smith again approached St. Peter. 'I've been telling folks who I am,' he said, 'and every time that I've mentioned that I was the hero of the Johnston flood, a little weakened up old fellow has come up and said, oh hell! Every little crowd that gathered to hear me tell the story of the Johnston flood, that little old fellow poked his way in, and when I got through said, oh hell! Who is that little weakened up old cuss that says, oh hell! every time I say I'm the hero of the Johnston flood?'"

"That," said St. Peter, glancing around, "that is old Noah."—New York Evening Sun.

Parade in New York.

New York, May 30.—Decorations day was observed with impressive solemnity in this city. Crowds attended all the exercises; the weather being fine. There was an impressive G. A. R. parade National Guard regiments, United States regular troops and blue-jackets and marines from the navy. The parade was reviewed by Lieut. Gen. Miles, Rear Admiral Barker, Acting Governor Nixon, Mayor Low, Gen. Howard and Gen. Brook.

A soldiers and sailors monument, said to be one of the costliest of the kind in the world, was unveiled in Riverside Park. There was a parade of the G. A. R. in Brooklyn.

Memorial services were held in the afternoon at Grant's tomb in the presence of 5,000 people. Judge Thomas G. Jones, of the United States District Court of Alabama, was introduced and delivered the oration. In his tribute to Gen. Grant, Judge Jones said, in part:

This hour is one of indescribable moral grandeur. When but a beardless youth I drank the cup of defeat at Appomattox and was of those "allowed" to return to his home not to be disturbed by the United States authorities so long as they observed their parole and the laws in force where they resided." From that day to this there never has been an hour when I would willingly omit an opportunity to do honor to the memory of the immortal who labored to add to the burden of our sorrows then.

No true soldier can deny to the illustrations men whose mortal remains lie here the possession of all the qualities of a great commander. The man who died at Mt. McGregor was never envious of the Captain who won battle for him and he sustained them loyally in the field. No ignoble emotions came to him in the hour of triumph. He did not take time after the collapse at the little Virginia village to pass through Richmond, the prize for which armies had so long contended, but hurried direct to Washington to begin the disbandment of the army. He was called to the highest civic rank on earth. The gaze of the world beat in upon him there and found no stain."

President Roosevelt sent a wreath of roses, and the Chinese Minister, Wu Ting Fang, a bed of roses.

He Never Again Stopped His Paper.

Once upon a time a man got mad at the editor and stopped his paper. The next week he sold his paper. The next week he sold his corn four cents below the market price. Then his property was sold for taxes because he didn't read the treasurer's sale. He was arrested and fined $8 for going hunting on Sunday, simply because he didn't know it was Sunday, and paid $10 for a lot of forged notes that had been advertised two weeks and the public caught on not to negotiate them. He then paid a big Irishman, with a foot like a forged hammer to kick him all the way to the newspaper office when he paid four years in advance and made the editor sign an agreement to knock him down and rob him if he ever ordered his paper stopped again.—Exchange.

A Thrilling Experience.

The Spritful New-Leader says: "John Applegate, familiarly known as 'Mover,' the night watchman of the L. & N. passenger engine that stays over night at the station here, had rather a thrilling experience just before the time for the train to move out the other morning. It seems that the starting lever or some part of the engine had not been working very smoothly and that morning after Applegate had raised steam he concluded to try the workings of the machinery to see if all went well. He cut the engine loose from the train and opened the throttle and all went well—rather too well for comfort. The engine moved off rapidly down towards Bardstown with the new engi-ner pulling frantically at the lever in a vain endeavor to stop her, but nothing had gone wrong and old 'even Ought Right' appeared to give the bit in her teeth and was headed for Louisville ahead of schedule time. After a wild ride of about three miles, however, the engine was stopped and brought back to the station for her load.

Senator Vest's Contribution to History.

The Hon. George Granom Vest has been a member of the United States Senate so long that most people had forgotten his connection with the Senate of the Confederate States. Mr. Vest reminded the country of it recently, when he rose to correct a statement about the historic conference in Hampton Roads, in 1864, between President Lincoln and Alexander Stephens, Vice President of the Confederate government; R. M. T. Hunter and Mr. Campbell. Mr. Stephens and his associates came to the conference with the idea that some advantage for their government might be obtained from it. Gettysburg, the year before, had really decided the issue of the war, but the Confederate representatives had built their hopes on the fiction that the North was weary of the struggle and might even grant the South independence to end it. Mr. Tullman, in a speech in the Senate recently, had repeated the old story that at the Hampton Roads conference Mr. Lincoln wrote the words, "Save the Union," on a blank sheet of paper and told the Southern commissioners to fill in their own condition of peace. Senator Vest said that Mr. Henry Waterson, who passes for a war historian, had made use of the same interesting rumor in one of his lectures. But Mr. Vest, while not present at the conference, knew that Mr. Lincoln had done nothing of the sort. Both Mr. Stephens and Mr. Hunter had told the Senator just what he had occurred. Mr. Hunter announced that he and his associates were instructed to consider no proposition that did not involve the independence of the Confederate States, whereupon President Lincoln said the conference might as well terminate at once, for nothing but absolute and unconditional surrender would be accepted from what he called "the Richmond government." As Alexander Stephens passed out, Old Abe said to him according to Senator Vest: Stephens, you are making a great mistake. Your government is a failure and when the crash comes, as it soon must come, there will be chaos and disasters which we cannot now foresee come to your people."

Read It in His Newspaper.

George Schanz, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volks-Zeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain-Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain-Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by all druggists.

Gave It Up.

A young woman of twenty-eight upon returning home after a long absence was greeted by her old nunsmy

The Home of Peruna

The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

As is well known, Dr. Hartman is the proprietor of the Hartman Sanitarium, an institution which has a department devoted exclusively to the treatment of female diseases. He is thus brought to see thousands of such cases every year.

THE GREATEST OF AMERICA'S SANITARIUMS.

The principal remedy he relies upon in such cases is Peruna, which every woman should have, who has any affection of the kind.

In view of the great multitude of women suffering from some kind of female disease, and yet unable to find any cure, Dr. Hartman, the renowned gynecologist, has announced his willingness to direct the treatment of as many cases as may make application to him during the summer months without charge.

This treatment will be conducted by correspondence. The doctor will prescribe all medicines, applications, hygienic and dietary regulations necessary to complete a cure. The medicines prescribed can be obtained at all drug stores. This offer will prevail during the summer months. Any woman can become a regular patient by sending a written statement of her age, condition of life, history and symptoms of her derangement.

All cases of female diseases, including menstrual irregularities, displacements, inflammation, leukorrhoea, dysmenstruation, irritation of the ovaries, tumors and a dropy of the abdomen, should apply at once and become registered as regular patients. All correspondence will be held strictly confidential. No testimonials of cures will be given to the public except by the express wish of the patient.

No one knows better than Dr. Hartman how much the women suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex. No one knows better than he does how many of them suffer with such diseases. Patiently, hopefully, bravely, and often bravely, they do out a miserable existence year after year.

A woman confined to the home several years with a chronic female disease had finally given up all hope of being cured. She had tried physician after physician, and remedy after remedy, without any permanent improvement. Her treatment had cost her husband, who was a poor man, hundreds of dollars. They had been obliged to deny themselves many comforts of life in order to get money enough to pay the physicians.

Picking up the paper one day she happened to read an item which contained the news that Dr. Hartman would treat each case free of charge by letter, she immediately wrote the doctor, describing her case, and giving him all her symptoms. She soon received a letter telling her exactly what to do and what medicines and appliances to get. She began the treatment (the principal remedy being Peruna) at once, and in a few weeks was well and strong again and able to do her own work.

Another woman who used Peruna without becoming one of Dr. Hartman's regular patients, wrote the following experience. Miss Ida Green writes from Baldwinville, Ga.:

"Peruna is wonderful and good, and a certain cure for female weakness. I have been ill and have been taking doctor's medicine for several years, and found that none did me any good."

"Every day it was a worry. I was always sick. I had come to the conclusion to give up, and not use any more medicine. I was sick indeed for the past two years. Just before I began to take Peruna I was very weak, besides I was bilious and constipated."

"I had pains in my back and sides and feeling of the womb, with bearing down pains."

"One day while reading my newspaper, I came across an ad., read of the book for women entitled, 'Health and Beauty,' and sent for it. Then I began to use Peruna. After using several bottles I am now thoroughly cured."

MISS IDA GREEN.
Mrs. Theresa Keller, of Fremont, Wash., writes:

"Peruna not only cured me of female troubles but prevents me catching any cold, and as long as I have a bottle in the home my family needs no doctor."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Appellate Judge.
We are authorized to announce J. H. HENRY as a candidate for re-election to the office of Judge of the Appellate Court in the Second Judicial District, subject to the action of the Republican party.

For Circuit Judge.
We are authorized to announce W. T. OWEN, of Davison county, as a candidate for Circuit Judge in the sixth Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

What is the matter with M. L. Heavrin and R. W. Slack for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney? We are not particular which runs for which.

Funny, sure, but the first votes cast in our voting contest was four votes for a married man and the same number for an old maid. Of course it was a sourced old bachelor who did the voting.

Let us have some short letters for publication from teachers and others putting their favorites in nomination to be voted for in our prize contest. Beginning with our first July issue, we shall publish each week the standing of the candidates.

We feel no great interest in the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge, nor do the Democrats themselves. The general opinion among Democrats is that Judge Owen will win at about the Bryan ratio. This, of course, accounts for the lack of interest among the Democrats.

NAPOLEON BONAPARTE said that had the Roman Empire built the Appian Way—a broad broken stone roadway across the empire—a century earlier, Roman Emperors might yet be dictating the policy of all Europe. Such was the great Master of War's opinion of the value of good roads.

COL. E. H. TAYLOR, a well-known Frankfort politician, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Col. Taylor is also a well-known distiller, and it bores counts among Democrats all over the State like it does among Ohio county Democrats, it is within the ability of the gentleman to win.

The election of Chief Justice B. L. D. Guffy to succeed himself as a member of the Appellate Court is of the utmost importance to the whole people of the district. Judge Guffy is one of the few men able to rise absolutely above personal and political feelings and do his duty without regard to consequences to himself or to his party. Even Judge Guffy's enemies will say nothing against his personal or political character that would disqualify him for the full confidence of the people.

The Kentucky Press Association meets at Owensboro July 7 and 8, and will go from that city North to the Great Lakes for an outing. The editor of THE REPUBLICAN is going on the trip with the press gang if our delinquent subscribers will pay up their subscription accounts before the press meeting. The railway and navigation companies will provide free transportation for the editors, and it is only a question of a cot and three daily hashes between us and a delightful trip to the North. Send us a check or bring us the cash, and we'll drop into the office of that funny paper at Detroit—The Free Press—and tell the funny editor what a funny joke you played on us. We'll pack our grip while you bring in the cash.

BRITISH arms have triumphed in the Transvaal and the Boer Republic is no more. The Justice of Great Britain's War on the Dutch Republic, can never be determined by newspaper controversies, and we do not care to indulge in it, but since popular opinion in this country has been formed chiefly by an abstract sentiment of sympathy for a small Republic, we care to say that Great Britain was confronted with a problem which she proceeded to solve much as any other great and strong country would have done under similar circumstances. British subjects owned two-thirds of the wealth of the Republic, but were not allowed a voice in the government of the country, and the situation was aggravated by the incapacity of the Boers to govern. British subjects sacrificed millions of dollars to the incapacity of the Boers to rightly govern their country, and finally the British government did what any other human government would have done—went to the rescue of her subjects, upon the principle, which, right or wrong, will always obtain, that the owners of the wealth of a country are going to govern it.

It is to be regretted that our citizens regard money given for building good roads only as so much money thrown away. If they could be convinced of the fact, and it is a fact, that every public highway in the country, could be laid down with some solid and lasting road material, and the people collectively and individually be richer by it at the end of ten years, road-making would find favor with the people. It would not be practical to build all of our roads in a year, but the work should begin with the chief thoroughfares and kept up until the whole system was covered. If our Fiscal Court will take the initiative, public sentiment can be stimulated to build a good roadway from East to West and from North to South, through the county. Local interest would then stimulate communities off of these roads to devise means to get to them, and in this way further the education of our citizens in road-making. A county organization of our progressive farmers and business men, who have studied the value of good roads, should be effected for the purpose of the education of our citizens upon the question of good roads. Who will take the initiative?

THE TELEPHONE GIRL.

If we were keeper of the Celestial Gates, we should admit all the telephone exchange girls first. Our partiality for the telephone girls, results chiefly from the kind, obliging and cheerful service of Miss Minnie McIntyre who has charge of the Home Exchange here. From year's end to year's end she responds "hello" to each of a thousand rings daily as cheerfully as if she had been waiting hours for a call and welcomed it to relieve a monotonous stillness.

While we should admit Miss Minnie first, there are other telephone girls for whose cheerful service we are personally indebted. Miss Bessie Morton, who operates the Cumberland Exchange here, has earned the lasting gratitude of the patrons of that popular line by her faithful, efficient and untiring service.

Miss Bessie Weiborn, of the Fordville Exchange, is punctual, pleasant and polite, and richly merits the good will of those she serves. If we were at that Gate, we should have the telephone girls of at least Maine, Mexico and Mobile to give precedence to the day operator of the Harrison Exchange at Owensboro.

We do not know the young lady's name, but we do know that she answers the caller with a rich, sweet, musical "alright," that almost tempts one to bore his friends with useless calls.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Jefferson County Records. The records of Jefferson county in the future will be typewritten with Indelible Ink and the latest Improved "Elliott Book Typewriters." At the April term of the fiscal court, the county purchased from the Elliott & Hatch Book Typewriter company, machines, which have just been installed in the court house, and on which the county records are now being written.

This progressive move insures that in future the records will be indelible, legible, and uniform; from an economical standpoint, it also means a saving of 50 per cent in vault space and storage room, on account of typewriting being more condensed than pen written records.

A Pleasant Trip.

Doniphan, Mo., June 2, 1922. EDITOR REPUBLICAN: According to promise I send a few lines about our trip. On the 17th of May Mrs. F. A. Paul and your scribe left Melferry on the eleven o'clock train, arrived in Paducah at four. Here we found the largest crowd I ever saw, it being the last day of the carnival. We were met at the depot by Mr. Sherman Jones and Major Bowman, with buggies, and carried to Cunningham, where we visited friends for a week—found my sister, Mrs. John Jones, sick. The 24th, we drove to Bardwell, where we took the train for Cairo. We crossed the big bridge at Cairo, three miles long, and the high trestle, which is thirteen miles long.

At Cairo we took the Cotton Belt for Annapolis, Mo. We crossed the Ohio again and the mighty Mississippi—in the transfer this time. We arrived at Annapolis at four o'clock.

Here we found the finest corn and wheat crops I ever saw. The 26th we took the Iron Mountain at Charleston for Dexter, where we visited T. D. Patterson and children. Left Dexter the 28th, arrived in Poplar Bluff at seven; spent the night at the Gibson's House, and must say, it is first-class in every respect. At eight o'clock, the 29th, left the Bluff for Neeleyville. Here we made our last change; took the branch road for Doniphan, and arrived at eleven o'clock, worn out by a two weeks travel.

But the sight of the two brothers I had not seen for twenty years has improved my feelings. I am having a nice visit regardless of the loss of my trunk on the way.

I find the people of Doniphan cultured and intelligent, and will ever remember with pleasure my visit. I read your paper here, and anxiously await its arrival. We don't get it until Monday. LUE.

Heavy Loss of Life.

Tucson, Ariz., June 4.—The uprising among the Yaqui Indians is becoming general. A detachment of 73 men from the force of Gen. Torras, who is pursuing the Yaquis in the Mexican Mountains, east of Hermosillo, was ambushed in thirty of the number killed. Fifty Indians are reported killed.

Win Without Striking.

Chicago, June 4.—For the first time in twenty years the job printers of Chicago will have their wages raised simultaneously in all the job printing shops in the city. Typographical Union No. 16 to which the men belong, always has been averse to a strike, and last night succeeded in getting the raise in the wages without one. Over 150 men will be benefited by the raise.

The printers have been getting $18 a week for their work and demanded $19.50. This was given them. They have had one apprentice to every ten men, and the employers have been anxious to cut this down to one for every five.

On this point the two parties could not agree, and the matter will be left to arbitration. The agitation from increased wages and lower apprentices began three weeks ago and for the first time in years the word strike was used in the council of the union. This was agreed upon if the demands were not acceded to, and the proprietors were told of the fact.

Safe-Blowers Still at Work.

Paducah, Ky., June 4.—Safe-blowers continue to get in their work in Southern Illinois and Western Kentucky. They cracked a safe in Samuel Vick's store at Hamletburg, Ill., and received several hundred dollars, making their escape. It is the fourth safe blown within a month. The highest haul was made last week at Lela, Ky., where $1,200 was secured at Johnson Bros' store.

New Oil Company.

Frankfort, Ky., June 4.—Incorporation articles were filed in the office of the Secretary of State today by the Empire Oil Company, of Warren county. It has $15,000 capital stock.

Cow Attacks a Minister.

A vicious cow almost made an end of Rev. J. H. James. Mrs. James went to the lot to milk the animal. The cow attacked her, and she barely escaped through the gate. Mr. James then went into the lot and the cow attacked him, knocking him down, and attempted to gore him in the stomach. He was held firmly to the ground between her horns and would have been seriously injured and perhaps killed, but for the interference of Ben Brocking, who was near. He ran to the assistance of the prostrate man, and by beating the cow drove her away from him.—Owensboro Inquirer.

SCROFULA

I bequeath to my children Scrofula with all its attendant horrors, humiliation and suffering. This is a strange legacy to leave to posterity; a heavy burden to place upon the shoulders of the young.

This treacherous disease dwarfs the body and hinders the growth and development of the faculties, and the child born of blood poison, or scrofula-tainted parentage, is poorly equipped for life's duties.

Scrofula is a disease with numerous and varied symptoms; enlarged glands or tumors about the neck and armpits, catarrh of the head, weak eyes and dreadful skin eruptions upon different parts of the body show the presence of tubercular or scrofulous matter in the blood. This dangerous and stealthy disease entrenches itself securely in the system and attacks the bones and tissues, destroys the red corpuscles of the blood, resulting in white swelling, a pallid, waxy appearance of the skin, loss of strength and a gradual wasting away of the body.

S. S. S. combines both purifying and tonic properties, and is guaranteed entirely vegetable, making it the ideal remedy in all scrofulous affections. It purifies the deteriorated blood, makes it rich and strong and a complete and permanent cure is soon effected. S. S. S. improves the digestion and assimilation of food, restores the lost properties to the blood and quickens the circulation, bringing a healthy color to the skin and vigor to the weak and emaciated body.

Write us about your case and our physicians will cheerfully advise and help you in every possible way to regain your health. Book on blood and skin diseases free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Gray Hair

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over thirty years. It has kept my scalp free from dandruff and has prevented my hair from turning gray."—Mrs. F. A. Soule, Billings, Mont.

There is this peculiar thing about Ayer's Hair Vigor—it is a hair food, not a dye. Your hair does not suddenly turn black, look dead and lifeless. But gradually the old color comes back—all the rich, dark color it used to have. The hair stops falling, too. It is a hair food, too.

We are getting quite a number of bright, intelligent young ladies on our list of correspondents. Our weekly letters from Fordville, Beaver Dam and Cromwell are young ladies making their first efforts as newspaper correspondents. Their weekly letters are a feature of the REPUBLICAN of which we are justly proud. We refer to these because they are new writers, and are equally as proud of the remainder of our correspondents.

Esq. P. H. Allford died at his home near Horse Branch, Tuesday. He had been sick several months and his death had been expected daily for some time. Esquire Allford was one of the best as well as one of the best known citizens of Ohio county. He was for many years a member of the Ohio Fiscal Court, and was considered one of the best magistrates in the county. He would have been seventy-one years old to-day.

Mr. J. M. Caselberg died at his residence in Hartford last Friday evening of a complication of diseases, and his remains were interred in Oakwood Cemetery Sunday morning, after funeral services conducted by Rev. E. D. Maddox. Mr. Caselberg was one of Ohio county's oldest and best citizens, and was a consistent member of the Baptist church. He leaves a wife and several children and a host of other relatives and friends to mourn his taking away.

Poster Gross, formerly of Magan, this county, was adjudged an inmate at Haverhill last week. Gross was in jail at Haverhill charged with breaking into a store in Hancock county, but was tried for insanity rather than for housebreaking, and was sent to the asylum at Haverhill. Gross is well known by citizens of Hartford on account of his eccentricities while in jail here three years ago, charged with the murder of Frank Burke.

The remains of Nich Gunther, who was drowned near Spokane, Wash., about eleven years ago, were brought here Saturday and interred in Oakwood Cemetery Sunday afternoon. Nich Gunther was a son of Mr. Louis Gunther, of this place where he had lived since his childhood until about eleven years ago. It was not our pleasure to know the young man while he lived here, but the universal love for him by Hartford people is the greatest evidence of his worth.

Sheriff C. P. Keown and deputies John G. Keown and J. Roberts left Saturday morning for Eddyville with prisoners Keely, Marsh, Mills and Gray, the convicted bank robbers, and Cap Davis, sentenced for eight years for manslaughter, where the prisoners were turned over to officials of the state prison. The trip was made without incident, and the prisoners donned the prison uniform with the usual resignation.

Mr. H. M. Willis, the popular personal impersonator and character delineator had good success here Wednesday night and last night. Hartford people are delighted with Mr. Willis' work, which was decidedly the best entertainment of that character ever given here. Mr. Willis has mastered the mystery of human nature, and portrays it with an ease and grace rarely equaled and never excelled. He is the mischievous boy in sister's parlor, the long haired country squire and the impassioned patriot of the moral battle scene with equal cleverness. (Hartford people are anxious to welcome Mr. Willis back again.)

DICK NICHOLS.

Who Loved Not Wisely, But Too Well, In Trouble Again.

Sheriff Cal P. Keown left to-day for Danville Ill., where he goes to bring back Dick Nichols, who is charged with burning Taylor Stevens' barn, near Centertown, about three weeks ago. REPUBLICAN readers will remember Nichols as the overfond lover of Mr. Stevens' daughter-in-law, who was in jail here sometime ago charged with shooting at Taylor Stevens, but was released from custody because of his supposed insanity. After Nichols was discharged by the here, he returned to his home near Glasgow, and nothing more was heard of him until about three weeks ago, when he was again seen near Centertown one afternoon and Mr. Stevens' barn was burned that night. Nichols fled the county, but Sheriff Keown located him at Danville, Ill., and telephoned the Sheriff there to hold him. Nichols is in jail at that place from which he will be brought back here for trial.

Atmospheric Eccentricities.
We are indebted to Dr. W. H. S. Crabb, of Arnold, for data for the following weather notes:

In March, 1849, a terrific cyclone swept through Butler county destroying much valuable property, and the path of which is, in the remaining forest, well marked to this day. The winter of 1863 occurred the heaviest snow fall ever known in Kentucky. The level fields were covered to a depth of three feet, and the drifts were from five to seven feet in depth.

New years day 1864 was the coldest ever experienced in the South.

In 1875 cloud-bursts occurred in Ohio, Grayson and Butler counties, doing much damage to property and resulted in the greatest flood of the century in the local streams.

In 1888 occurred what has since been known as the great "Dakota Blizzard," which swept the country Eastward to the Atlantic ocean. This was the most fearful and destructive winter storm ever experienced on the Western Hemisphere. Thousands of lives and millions of dollars worth of property were man's tribute to the fury of winter. This storm resulted in a heavy sleet in Kentucky which will not be soon forgotten.

March 28, 1890, Ohio county was visited by a tornado, the like of which we hope never to witness again. Feb. 13, 1899, will be remembered for its excessive temperature, and July 22, 1901, for a temperature of 107 in the shade, but if some of our subscribers long in arrears do not pay up soon the warmest time is ahead.

"That doesn't matter," he replied. "You can soon learn it. To be frank, I wouldn't have to have to go through this kind of complication. You know we sell all sorts of goods for the complexion and articles for beautifying, and your face would do more to make sales than all of the arguments and representations that could be made."

"Well, the result was that I got a fine place, with easy work, at $15 a week. My hours are short, and I really play golf and do other things, and I consider it an immense profit. I wouldn't let any of the concoctions touch my face for anything, but the customers appear to be impressed by my complexion, and the proprietor is satisfied."

Baltimore, June 2.—The June ordi-

The first colored man ordained in this country was the Rev. C. R. Uncles, in the Cathedral, December 13, 1891. Father Uncles, who is a member of the Josephine Order, is now
